Where The Library Construction Bond Act Is Today:

• The New Jersey State Library and Thomas Edison State University held an initial meeting with their seven partner agencies in early October. These seven state agencies and organizations in conjunction with The New Jersey State Library and Thomas Edison State University are integral to the establishment of the procedures that will guide the administration of the New Jersey Library Construction Bond Act Program. Library users all over the state are waiting for the release of the regulations that will govern this program and the public comments that will impact its implementation.
With a 1:1 match required to receive funds, anticipated revenues generated by these projects will be in excess of a quarter of a billion dollars.
